No Quorum in Congress

Nothing Done by the Members of the House.

BUT TWO DEMOCRATS PRESENT.

Twelve Republicans Absent, Which Leaves But One Hundred and Fifty-Nine Members and Prevents All Further Legislation—Routine Work in the Senate—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The efforts of the managers of the house to secure a quorum of Republican members in order that the Langston-Venale contested election case could be broken again proved a failure yesterday. Mr. O'Farrell, of Virginia, and Mr. Smith, of Arizona, were the only Democrats in the hall when the house was called to order. At the conclusion of the prayer the clerk, under direction of the speaker, proceeded to call the roll on the approval of Friday's journal.

The vote resulted: Yeas 133, nays 0—no quorum; and a call of the house was ordered. One hundred and fifty-nine members responded to their names—still no quorum.

The Republican absentees were: Mississ. Broome, Hunsbrugh, McCormick, T. M. Brown, of Indiana; Butterworth, Connell, Ewart, Finley, Milliken, Peters, Sweeney and Wilson, of Kentucky.

A Republican caucus was called to order immediately after the adjournment of the house and lasted nearly two hours. Discussion on the subject of plans for securing the attendance of absent Republicans was general, and Mr. Moore, of New Hampshire, proposed that absentees should be fined $500 each. Severe condemnation of the absent Republicans was indulged in. A count of absentees brought forth promises from number of members that a sufficient number of the absentees to make a quorum would be present tomorrow.

Some members urged the abandonment of the Langston case, but this action was opposed by most of the leaders, and it was determined, without taking a vote, that the case should not be dropped and that adjournment should be postponed until Langston is seated. With this understanding the caucus adjourned, leaving it to the several state delegations to understand the task of securing the attendance of absent colleagues.

The senate, after the transaction of some routine business, resumed consideration of the bill to define and regulate the jurisdiction of United States courts. The bill was discussed up to within a few moments of adjournment, then went over without action. The senate then, after a brief executive session, adjourned.

Imports of merchandise during August past aggregated $61,200,880, against $65,065,713 in August, 1889, and for the past twelve months $59,220,608, against $64,210,184 during the preceding twelve months.

MORE RAILROAD WRECKS.

A Rear End Collision in St. Louis—Other Railroad Disasters.

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—At 7:05 p. m. a rear end collision occurred on the Wabash tracks, near Forest park, just inside the city limits. The Denver express ran into the local accommodation of the Colorado road, which had stopped to pick up their switchmen. Charles W. Howard, engineer of the Denver express, of St. Louis, was killed instantly, and J. S. Crosland, his fireman, badly hurt. Fred. Dusford, Pullman conductor, seriously hurt; Joe Nelson, newsboy, badly injured. There are fourteen others who were slightly injured, mostly from St. Louis.

Two Freight Trains Wrecked.

ALBANY, Sept. 23.—A rear end collision occurred between two east-and-freight trains on the Central road between Schenectady and Hoffman's Ferry early yesterday morning. One of the trains had stopped on account of a hot box when the other one ran into it, sending the engine into a ditch, wrecking about ten cars and completely blocking the track. The debris caught fire and several cars were burned. Only one man, brakeman, name not known, was injured. He received a severe cut on the head. The loss on rolling stock is about $15,000.

Fire Train Men Injured.

GLEN STUDE, Pa., Sept. 23.—A wreck occurred in the Derry yard of the Pennsylvania railroad last night in which five trainmen were injured, and two of them may die. Following are the injured: J. N. Caldwell, will probably die; W. H. Irwin, left thigh badly crushed; Newton Aikens, leg injured and injured internally; James Neal, ribs broken and otherwise seriously hurt; Clinton Johns, bruised about the head.

Freight Locomotive Boiler Explodes.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 23.—At 11 o'clock last night the boiler attached to a freight train on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, exploded at Sherman Heights, five miles from here. The engineer and fireman were blown to atoms and the brakeman was severely injured. The names of the victims have not been learned as the wires are prostrated.

Verdict in the Reading Wreck.

READING, Pa., Sept. 23.—The coroner's jury in the cases of the victims of the Shoemakersville disaster last Friday, rendered a verdict yesterday concerning the flagman of the coal train, who neglected to properly signal the freight train following. This led to the collision, by which the coal cars were thrown on the track in front of the express train.

Killed by a Wild Engine.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 23.—James and John Gladson, father and son, while riding in a wagon yesterday drawn by a blind horse across the tracks of the East Tennessee railroad, near Doltewan, were struck and instantly killed by a wild engine. The old man was thrown sixty feet and the son about fifty before they struck the ground, dead.

A Wrecked Train Causes a Wreck.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—At 3:30 a. m. on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, a local freight train ran into another freight train yesterday, killing Engineer James Shields. A telegram summoned a wreck train from Connerville, but it was not flagged in time, and ran into the wreck, injuring three men.

Two More Victims.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Otto Schlof, a boy, one of the injured in Sunday night's accident on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, died yesterday. The coroner will make a rigid investigation into the circumstances attending the accident. Miss Annie Post died at noon, making the seventh victim.

The Crews Escaped.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The Boston express on the Central New England and Western railroad (Poughkeepsie Bridge route) ran into a freight train a few miles west of here yesterday. Both engines and a number of freight cars were wrecked, but no one was hurt.

Two Tramps Killed in a Wreck.

BARNESVILLE, O., Sept. 23.—A broken axle caused a bad wreck of ten freight cars on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, three miles west of Barnesville. Two tramps are believed to be in the wreck.

FUNERAL OF AN ACTOR.

The Remains of Dion Boucicault Laid to Rest.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The funeral of Dion Boucicault, the dramatist and editor, took place yesterday from "The Little Church Around the Corner." The cortege was packed to overflowing, prominent actors and actresses from nearly every theater in the city being present.

Among the pallbearers were Messrs. A. M. Palmer, Daniel Frohman, Henry A. Abbey, Frank M. Sanger, Joseph F. Daly, Chief Justice McAdam, ex-Judge Noah Davis and others. Ex-Judge Dittemoer was also present as the representative of the deceased's son, "Dor" Boucicault, now in Australia, and had cabled Mr. Dittemoer to represent.

The Rev. Dr. Houghton conducted the final services, which were those of the Epiphany church. The organist was J. P. Boyd, with a choir of twenty-two voices.

At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken by special train to Woodlawn cemetery, where they were temporarily placed in the receiving vault.

EX-CONGRESSMAN DEAD.

ALLEGTON, Pa., Sept. 23.—The Sixth ward hotel safe was robbed last night of $1,176 in cash and gold watches valued at $600. The thief knew the combination.

Cheaper Aluminum.

Has Professor Hirsh Solved the Important Problem?

IT WILL SOON BE ANSWERED.

He Exhibits His Process to a Reporter, Who Declares It is Altogether New. Possibilities of the Metal Should Be Come Much Cheaper.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The Morning News says that Professor Joseph M. Hirsh, of Chicago, has exhibited to one of its reporters the process by which he is enabled to extract aluminum from clay at a cost of only a few cents per pound, and declares the process is entirely different from any known to the public. The announcement of this discovery was made some time ago, with the result that he was attacked as a fraud.

Since the first announcement of the discovery was made Professor Hirsh has been quietly completing arrangements to begin active operations. He has leased two five-story buildings. He claims to have manufactured 2,000 pounds of aluminum already, and within a few days the works will have a capacity of this amount every week. A reporter called on the chemist Saturday to ask him in regard to certain charges made by a New York mining journal that he had no new process and was infringing on the Hall or Cowles patent, or else exhibiting metal which he had bought in quantities.

"I have solved the problem of extracting the metal from an aqueous solution," said Professor Hirsh, "and the process has been so simplified that it is surprisingly cheap and requires but little labor. Pure kaolin or clay contains 53 per cent. of aluminum. From the clay which I am using I can get 16-23 per cent. metal—that is, from two barrels, or 600 pounds, of clay I can get 100 pounds of aluminum. Professor Richards, of Lehigh university, in his work on aluminum, intimates that the metal cannot be extracted from clay in the manner that I have done it. It will take me only a few minutes to demonstrate to you that my invention is bona fide. I will show you through the works."

After promising not to publish the details of the new methods the reporter was taken to the factory and there was shown the manner in which Professor Hirsh's disc very is operated. Without going into details, it may be said that the process is entirely different from any mentioned in works on chemistry, and is very clearly no infringement of the Cleveland or Pittsburg patents.

"And you still say you can produce the metal for fifteen cents a pound?"

"For much less than that. If I complete my arrangements for cheap power, I can reduce the labor to such small items that the metal will cost only six cents a pound. Of course the aluminum will be sold at the present market price for a time, as it will be impossible to turn out a big supply all at once. First, the metal will be made up into articles common to Britannia ware. Machines for spinning metal can be produced at once, and by making up this line of goods we will be able to get $8 or $10 a pound.

"Afterward we can turn out greater amounts and will manufacture in varieties of articles or sell the metal in bricks or sheets. It will be a long time before the metal will be produced in such quantities as to warrant its use in building houses, cars or vessels, although the inventor of the Thompson patent car has already arranged to construct four sleepers of aluminum for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad."

The Chicago Aluminum company is to be a corporation with $1,000,000 capital stock. William L. Marston, president of the American Building and Investment society, will probably be president, as he is already the principal stockholder next to Professor Hirsh. The four or five men interested in the invention have put $15,000 into the plant and will receive their stock when $100,000 has been invested.

A FAMILY POISONED.

A Very Mysterious Disease Existing in an Indiana Family.

MENTOR, Ind., Sept. 23.—The residents of this place are greatly excited over mysterious disease which baffles the physicians and is about to annihilate the family of George Davidson, a popular citizen here.

Last Tuesday the 7-year-old daughter was taken ill and in eight hours died. An hour later a 9-year-old son was attacked and died in eight hours. Next day his only remaining child, a three-year-old girl, was attacked, one after another, and died.

All the physicians in the neighborhood admit they never saw anything like it and don't know what it was or how to treat it. So great is the sorrow and agitation of Mr. and Mrs. Davidson that it is feared they will not escape the fate of their children.

Arrested for Stealing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Henry Conde, 42 years old, who resides with his family at 242 Grove street, Jersey City, and who was for many years a trusted salesman with William Reiter, jewelry manufacturer, of 890 Broadway, was arrested yesterday for stealing property belonging to his employers. He had got away with $6,000 worth of jewelry during the time he had been with the firm. Part of the jewelry has been recovered.

"There Is An Economy That Wastes and a Spending That Spares."

Men go where credit may be had for a price, making the serious mistake of thinking they are doing good financial work—therefore economizing—by buying with pay-day six or twelve months away—getting the merchant's goods and the use of his capital all that time for nothing, you know. Oh! fatal delusion! It lures like a will o' the wisp into the unseen bogs of merciless debt.

The sweet siren song is sung of credit, and they who stop and listen to its delightful strains become the victims of the relentless toils of debt. The time-buyer is not only made to pay a long price directly but a good round interest as well on the merchant's capital he is using, and is also made to contribute toward the payment of an assessment made by all credit merchants for a certain percentum of loss by delinquent customers.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1890.

THE Delaware Herald says: "If the Farmers' Alliance want to remedy the distressed condition of their interests, let them vote for the party that is in favor of removing unjust, oppressive and unnecessary taxation and securing wider market for agricultural products. That is the position the Democratic party has always taken and the position it now occupies."

AS REPUBLICANS imagine that all Great Britain is dying to have the United States lower its tariff, they will be surprised to learn that James Hill, a Scotch politician, who has just made a tour of the world, said the other day: "All I can say is, 'God help Englishmen when the Americans go for free trade!' At this moment they are paying thirty millions into our pockets on account of the ship building and carrying trade which their idiotic navigation laws have lost to them."

SOME of the Republican papers are giving Raun cold comfort. The Buffalo Express says: "The Pension Bureau scandal has become notorious. President Harrison must remove Raun for the credit of the administration." The Boston Advertiser says: "It would seem that Commissioner Raun has not helped his case with the public, but has considerably injured it, by rushing into print in his own defense."

The worst feature of the case is Mr. Raun's own contradictory testimony. When first on the witness stand he swore to the "exact truth," he said, but afterwards admitted things just the opposite.

"Tom Reed is a fraud and McKinley is a fraud, and the McKinley bill is the greatest outrage ever perpetrated on the people of the United States. I have voted the Republican ticket all my life, but I tell you the man who made up the new tariff bill and the men who voted for it are frauds, and I don't care who knows that I say it."

Quoting this, the Boston Herald (Independent) says: "Rutherford is emphatic, these words are. They might be considered exaggerated if they came from a Democrat, but they didn't. The man who uttered them yesterday, during an interview with a Herald man, was not only not a Democrat, nor even a Mugwump, but an out-and-out Republican. He wasn't a little man, either, whose opinions are not worth considering. On the contrary, he was one of the very best known merchants of Boston, none other than Mr. Joseph A. Brown, of the wholesale importing house of Brown, Durrell & Co. Mr. Brown's utterances have a very deep significance, coming as they do from a man of his politics and commercial standing. They reflect the opinion of a great number, perhaps all, of the large importers of Boston, who are not tied to the party machine as Ixion was to the wheel."

CONGRESSMAN DINGLEY, a Republican Representative from the State of Maine, owns the Lewiston Journal, and this paper doesn't pretend that the recent election in Maine was an overwhelming vindication of the National policy of the Republican party. It says that "the large increase of the Republican plurality of Maine over that usually given in a non-Presidential year is undoubtedly due in part to the license issue which the second Democratic convention made. The great falling off in the Democratic vote in rural towns is due largely to their disgust at the attempt to commit the Democratic party against Prohibition." That doesn't sound much like Boss Reed has been vindicated, and his despotic actions endorsed.

EDWARD O. LEIGH, editor of the Paducah Standard, will be appointed Assistant Secretary of State to succeed Willis L. King, who resigned last week.

The Kentucky Central and the Republican.

The Maysville Republican seems to have entered upon a rather herculean task of late.

A few years ago it tried to "regulate" the editorial management of the BULLETIN, as you all may remember, but its success in that line was not what would be termed "phenomenal." The exact opposite was the case.

It has now tackled the C. & O. and K. C. railroads, and seems to imagine it can regulate the operation of these roads.

"How foolish!"

The collector system on the former road doesn't please our neighbor and he gets behind an alleged "drummer" to say so.

The running of trains on the K. C. doesn't please the Republican, and the condition of that road is not just what our neighbor would have it. That isn't at all strange.

It says the road's time card is used to rope in suckers at terminal points. As much attention is paid to time-cards on the K. C. as on any other road. If a conductor doesn't keep his train according to schedule, we venture to say he has to show satisfactory reasons for the failure—either that or a lay-off or discharge. Delays will occur on the best of roads, and the K. C. is no worse in this respect than many others.

As to the condition of the road, the Republican says:

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good; the status quo of the Kentucky Central is a bonanza for accident insurance companies, and is in high flavor with persons contemplating suicide.

Now will the Republican please point to a single instance where a passenger on the Maysville Division of the Kentucky Central was ever killed in a wreck? It can't do it. An employee named Parker was killed many years ago between this city and Paris, but not in a wreck. He fell from the train, if our information is correct. Not only is it true that no passenger has ever lost his life in a wreck on the Maysville Division of the road, but it is likewise true that no one within our knowledge has ever been seriously injured. And we can't recall an instance where a train man was killed or seriously hurt in a wreck on this division, except the one above mentioned. That's a record few roads can show.

As for the other divisions of the road, wrecks and accidents on them are no more frequent than on other railways.

You see there are two sides to this case of the K. C., and the Republican in giving one side went far beyond what the facts justified, and resorted to abuse and misrepresentation. But that's the way it generally does. The editor of the Republican has always received courteous treatment at the hands of the company and its employees, and he could certainly afford to be fair and confine himself to facts and the truth in his criticisms of the road.

The company is aware of the fact that the Maysville Division is in need of repairs and the work of fitting it up has been in progress for some time. Railroads are not built or repaired in a day. Sixteen miles of steel rails were ordered some weeks ago, and will be put down as soon as received. This will give the division a steel track from Maysville to Carlisle, as steel rails are already down between this place and Nepton or Cowan. And the track from Carlisle to Paris is to be repaired also.

Knott's System of Courts.

The members of the Constitutional convention are still engaged in offering resolutions and proposed amendments. None of these amendments have yet been acted on by the committees in whose hands they are.

In addition to those heretofore mentioned, ex-Governor Knott offered one which proposes that the judiciary of the State shall be lodged in a Supreme Court, a Circuit Court and County Court, and such subordinate courts as may hereafter be provided by law. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and four and the Chief Justice appointed by the Governor from the State at large, with the consent of the associates. The term of service is twelve years each, and they shall be paid a salary fixed by law. There shall be a court to be known as the Circuit Court and which shall hold no less than two regular terms each year, subject, however, to regulations by law and consistent with other provisions of the Constitution. It provides for Circuit Court districts to be apportioned by the Legislature. The Circuit Judges shall hold their offices for a term of eight years and the apportionment must be so made as to leave three of the judges to Jefferson County. The County Court Judges are to be elected for a term of six years. Their duties do not differ materially from those of the present County Judges. The drift of Mr. Knott's plan was to increase the number and lessen the extent of the Circuit Court districts so that all the business now done by intermediate and subordinate courts may be transacted by the Circuit and County Courts. There will under it be no Magistrate or Common Pleas Courts unless they are created by future legislation. He also provides for four County Commissioners in as many districts in each county, constituting a Board of Claims and Assessment. One clerk elected by the county.

Judge Whitaker offered a resolution to require the Legislature to pass laws subjecting the movable property and rolling stock of railroads to levy and sale for the payment of judgments obtained against them.

Hon. W. J. Hendrick, offered the following: That the knowingly receiving of any vote by fraud or bribery shall vitiate the poll to the candidate, and the candidate receiving the next highest number of voluntary and uninfluenced votes shall be entitled to the office.

Perpetuating the Court of Appeals, which is to consist of five Judges, and prohibiting any Judge from holding any constitutional office for a period of three years succeeding the expiration of his term, Judges of Circuit Courts to be elected for twelve years, by circuits, of which the State shall be divided into five.

Vesting the judicial power of the Commonwealth in the Court of Appeals, and Judges of the Court of Appeals to hold office for eighteen years.

Judge Pugh, of Lewis, has introduced a resolution looking to a plan for the reformation of youthful criminals, by the establishment of State reformatory institutions.

Religious Services at the County Infirmary.

At a meeting of the Pastors' Union yesterday afternoon, arrangements were perfected to hold services at the County Infirmary regularly on the second and fourth Sundays of each month at 3 p. m., the pastors of the city to alternate. Rev.

W. J. E. Cox, of the Baptist Church, will preach next Sunday. Some of the officers and members of the churches will attend and take part. There are fifty-one inmates at the Infirmary, who heretofore rarely ever had an opportunity to attend religious services, and the move is a highly commendable one.

A Chicken Thief

America Davis, colored, was before Squire Miller this morning on a charge of petit larceny. It was a clear case and she was sent to jail in default of $100 bail.

America has long been known to have a great fondness for chicken, but she rarely goes to the trouble of raising them—except from some other person's coop. She visited Mr. N. Gollenstein's home at a very early hour this morning—the dawn of day. She found a dozen chickens that were hardly large enough for the table, but she wrung the necks of all, and then helped herself to a couple of cabbage and took her departure. Mr. Gollenstein watched her through it all and then hunted up Deputy Marshal Stockdale, who arrested her afterwards while she was cleaning the chickens.

Although it was a plain case, the accused when placed on the stand, swore that "a nasty, stinkin' nigger named Pete Jones" stole the chickens—that it was Pete whom Mr. Gollenstein saw "moseyin'" about his yard.

"JUSTICE"

Has Something to Say Concerning the Collector System on the C. and O.

Editor Bulletin: I notice an article in the Maysville Republican of last Saturday purporting to be the sentiments of a Maysville drummer as to "why drummers prefer using any other route than the C. and O. on account of the collector system."

Permit me to say that this is all "bosh," and it simply shows that the drummer, or writer of the article, knows as little of railroad business as I would of running a one horse weekly country newspaper.

In the first place we all know that drummers take the means of traveling the quickest, both for their own interests and that of the houses they represent. Secondly, they know as well as I do that all first-class railroads have a collector. The Pennsylvania Railroad has had them for the past twenty years. Likewise the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company and all the leading trunk lines of the United States have them.

The collector is as necessary to a train as a clerk is to a steamboat, and is not put on as a "check" on the conductor, as our friend says, for were that the case, is not the collector as liable to be dishonest as the conductor, and what would prevent him from the knock-down and take-out system?

When the C. and O. first started the Cincinnati Division its business was not nearly one-twentieth it now is and the conductor could easily collect tickets and attend to his other duties, but for the past six months the travel on this great line has been so immense it became necessary for the management to give the conductor a "clerk." This is what the collector really is. The conductor is to a train what a captain is to a steamboat. He is responsible for the safety of his passengers; also for the proper conduct of his train men, from engineer down. He must know what meeting points he makes with other trains; is obliged to "register" at such stations as the rules of the company require, makes a thousand and one reports too numerous to enumerate here, and by the time he reaches the end of his trip has put in a full day's work without collecting tickets.

It is all very well for our friend to speak of the "floated" bondholder. I am under the impression that most of us would like to be one.

Is a railroad corporation to be blamed for wishing to protect themselves? Every man who occupies a responsible position and who handles money for them is under bond—all excepting the conductors and collectors. Does not this of itself show implicit confidence? Into what office of trust occupied by any man in these days does he not have to give bond? The banker, broker, cashier, &c.? Have not all stores their cashiers bonded, and a system of checking accounts? And do we not see the cash registers on the counters of most of them?

I can only account for the "drummer's" remark as coming from one of those morbid chroniclers whose whole aim in life seems to delight in railing against corporations of which they know nothing about.

JUSTICE.

SOME MINER MATTERS.

Not minor matters, mark you.

The matters we have in view are far from being minor or unimportant. But of course you understand the point.

Miner Matters Are Shoes.

Nobody in Maysville can think of MINER without thinking of Shoes. What we want is that nobody in Maysville think of Shoes without thinking of MINER. We want them to think.

Miner Sells Good Shoes.

But we don't want them to say regrettably, "Yes, but I can't afford to buy good Shoes."

That's the way of it.

Lots of people think that a good Shoe, such as we sell, must be an expensive luxury. We want it remembered that our GOOD shoes are as cheap as not-good Shoes, price against price. And when quality is considered, our good shoes are cheaper than not good Shoes.

Know everybody that

London Police Interfere With a Prize Fight.

THE TWO PRINCIPALS ARRESTED.

McAuliffe and Slavin Arrested by London Police — Their Cases Continued in Court — Other News from the Old World.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—McAuliffe, the American slugger who was to meet Slavin, the Australian, in a fight to a finish at the Ormonde club last night, was arrested yesterday, and shortly afterward Slavin was brought in and locked up.

When McAuliffe and Slavin were arraigned in court, the inspector of police, who made the arrests, justified them by stating that the proposed contest was not to be a mere boxing match, but a genuine prize fight. He produced the articles of agreement, and pointed out that they provided for an unlimited number of rounds with four-ounce gloves. The gloves which were to be used had been on exhibition in the windows of a sporting newspaper establishment, and were evidently smaller than ordinary four-ounce boxing gloves. They were made very thin around the knuckles, and would not hinder severe punishment being inflicted.

The secretary of the Ormonde club deposed that the gloves were the same as those ordinarily used. The affair was to be strictly a boxing contest, governed by Queensbury rules. No breach of the law was intended. The police had been incited in this matter by a jealous rival club.

The inspector rejoined that nobody outside of the police authorities had known that the warrant was issued.

The magistrate directed the police to produce the gloves before he would pass upon the illegality of the contest. Meantime if the prisoners ventured to fight they would be severely dealt with.

The suddenness of the arrests prevented the defendants from obtaining counsel. The legal questions involved will be argued to-day.

McAuliffe's backers declare that Slavin, knowing that he was not in proper training to fight, allowed the time of the proposed contest to become known to the police. It is suspected by many, however, that the Pelican club set the machinery of the law in motion, in revenge for Slavin's refusal to fight in the club's rooms. The postponement of the affair has profoundly disgusted the sporting fraternity.

All the morning papers applaud the arrest of McAuliffe and Slavin, and express a hope that the fight will not be allowed to take place in England.

Revolving Newspapers.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, which is accepted as Prince Bismarck's organ, a few days ago published an article criticizing the manner in which the government dealt with the rumors concerning its attitude toward slavery in East Africa. The North German Gazette, the German organ, replying to the article, says that the government declines to be dictated to by The Nachrichten, and justifies the meeting of such canards at times by straightforward denial instead of by diplomatic shuffling. The Gazette concludes by making an incidental attack upon the persons who inspired the criticism.

Armenians Must Have Redress.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Times Constantinople correspondent dwells upon the sultan's readiness to act properly when, as is seldom known, he is allowed to act for himself. Among other cases that of the exiling of Moussay Bey is instanced. The commission recently appointed to inquire into the trouble in Armenia has been dissolved and a stronger commission appointed. The patriarchate threatens to close up all churches in the empire unless the wrongs of the Armenians are redressed.

Hefner and his wife were walking on the track when two men confronted them. The woman was told to go home and mind the babies, the men saying they had business with her husband. They pushed her aside and she fled back to Rushvalley and informed her brother-in-law. When they returned Hefner's dead body was found lying on the track. Eight hundred dollars in money contained in a belt worn by the dead man was missing. The murderers escaped.

Long Voyage in a Small Boat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Advices from Tahiti say that Capt. Henry Peterson, of San Francisco, performed successfully thefeat of sailing an eighteen-foot yacht from Esport, Cal., to Tahiti, 4,000 miles on the Pacific, and gained the $500 wager which had already cost one man his life. The yacht was in French register and was owned in Tahiti. The steamer company refused to take her, so she had to be sailed. Capt. Wentworth first tried but he had just passed Golden Gate when a big wave struck the craft and drowned Wentworth. The sailor with him had a narrow escape. Peterson started last June.

Absurdity on Its Face.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—When shown the dispatch from San Francisco that Senator Stanford will soon withdraw his capital from the Southern Pacific railroad and enter into a big combination to build a competing road to California, C. P. Huntington said to a United Press reporter that there was nothing in it, that he never heard of it before and probably never should again.

He knew one Gen. Magee, but had never heard of the one alluded to in the dispatch. Mr. Huntington said the alleged scheme was an absurdity on its face.

Site for the World's Fair.

This action will give the world's fair officials the use of Jackson park, the Midway Plaisance, Washington park, or at least a large portion thereof and the lake front. It is yet uncertain whether or not the latter portion of the site will now be rejected, but it is not believed that it will be.

Y., Sept. 23.—Cal Woods, the murderer of Pasco, who was on Friday last sentenced to death by electricity, was yesterday taken to Dannemora prison, there to await the execution of his sentence, which event is set for some time during the week of Nov. 3. The condemned man preserves the air of stoicism and indifference, which characterized his demeanor at the time sentence was rendered.

Effects of an Election Riot.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Advices from Goa, India, say that during the election riot Portuguese troops fired on a crowd of Republican rioters, killing eighteen and wounding fifty. Railroad Rumor.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—A special from Milwaukee says it is reported that the Northwestern people are negotiating for the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Northern railway. OUR NEIGHBORS.

SHANNON.

The senior elder of the Christian Church at Maysville, Waller Small, who's death has been mentioned in these columns, was gently laid to rest on Thursday afternoon. In the historic burial ground he lies alone. The casket was covered with black cloth and the inscription of which was this inscription: "These are the Dead Which Die in the Lord." Pillows, anchor, crown and sheaf were beautifully typified in white chrysanthemum tube roses and snow roses, and decorated the casket. The opening hymn was "We are Waiting at the Portals." The fifteenth chapter of I Corinthians was then read, when the choir responded with the concluding verse, "At the Beautiful Gate." Elder Waller's text was "Behold, I come." But he being full of the Holy Ghost, looked steadily into Heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God, which was treated with singular felicity and effectiveness. At the close of the elegy the choir gave "Beyond the Dark Sea." The following official representative men of the churches, John L. Caldwell, Robert Laney, W. Pogue, Ben Longmire, Ernest Myall and James Myall, acted as pall bearers. Waller Small was the last of the predecessors of the Christian Church, his predecessor being Elders Morris, Funnion, Doolin, Jamison and Mitchell. The writer interviewed the vete a few days before his death. He was very sprightly and expressed a wish to revisit the old Desha farm, of which he was overseer at the time Joseph Desha was Governor of Kentucky, and go to the early cemetery of that farm. Abel Rees and William Conner, and that he was there and others found the remains of the cruelty murdered Baker, over a half century ago.

Waller Small was the last of the witnesses in the Desha-Baker trial. All parties connected with this memorable Kentucky tragedy have crossed the great divide, to appear before a court from whose final award there is no appeal.

It is a well known fact, both at home and abroad, that the premiums awarded at the "Old Reliable" Germantown Fair are the most valuable of any in the State. New ideas prevail. New features predominate. Every day a banner day.
